Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

After our best ever Holyrood 2026 campaign, I am standing for re-election as Elections and Campaigns Officer.

I have almost 20 years of experience running and winning elections for Greens in Westminster, Northern Ireland Assembly, London Assembly, Scottish Parliament, European Parliament and local council elections.

It was a pleasure to help lead our successful Holyrood 2026 campaign. If re-elected I will help organise our 2027 city council election campaign and I hope to take us to our best ever result. Plans are already underway to make this happen, but I need your vote to be re-elected as Elections and Campaigns Officer.

As with last year, I stand for this role with zero ambition to seek elected office - only to elect others.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Outside of Green politics I am a campaigner and writer working on shifting taxpayer finance away from fossil fuels towards clean energy, including leading the successful 2018-21 campaign to end the UK Government's multi-billion financial support for fossil fuel projects overseas, a world first. I am now campaigning with Oil Change International on an international agreement that emerged from this win. This agreement has so far shifted around USD $20 billion out of fossil fuels, freeing it up for clean energy instead. My non-party and party campaigning complement each other well, allowing me to bring different perspectives to both sides of my work.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I've been the branch's Elections Agent for much of the last 15 years, and have experience of UK, Scottish and local elections. In this time I've successfully put dozens of candidates names on ballot papers, liaised with returning officers and electoral officials, and compiled and submitted numerous expenditure returns.

I was recently described by the regional returning officer in the 2026 Holyrood elections as a pleasure to work with and always the most organised of the election agents they deal with!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Having held the role since 2011 continuously apart from a three-year sabbatical, I am immediately qualified to continue. As well as having been through all the processes previously, I've developed effective relationships with electoral officials outside the party and the nominating officer within.

As a retired software engineer and systems administrator, I have an affinity for formal processes and a willingness to find the best ways to follow them. I relish improving the way organisations operate, and feel that holding the post continuously enables me to implement lessons learned with each iteration.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'd like to continue as co-convenor for a 2nd year. It's been a great experience and a change of pace from my previous roles. I'm still learning and certainly not overly comfortable in the role yet, so I would keep looking for ways I can better support the committee, elected reps, sub-branches and other volunteers. In the past year I've been multitasking a bit with content production but this year I'd like to do more to bring more folks in to help fill gaps and to focus on our monthly meetings to better meet the needs of members and hopefully get more folks in through the doors and getting involved. I think there is room for more compassion in the party and more broadly and this time round intend to make more headspace for that myself.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Credit for our outstanding results in the Holyrood election is due to the campaign team, staff and local teams that made it all happen. It was amazing how smoothly the branch worked once we really got going, I feel on principles of subsidiarity and democracy as if by muscle memory. There were challenges at the start, and our experiences from the last year will help us with the 2026/7 campaign. The co-convenors have an important role in setting us up for success. I bring my experience of previously sitting on Council & Exec as the party clerk, my multicultural background and notorious attention to detail (which I try to keep in check!) As the party grows to address the polycrisis, I will listen to members and facilitate on that journey.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I am standing for these roles because my life experiences give me a profound understanding of why the Scottish Greens' fight for structural change is so vital. Growing up in Woodburn as the eldest of six to a young mother, navigating education with severe dyslexia, and managing a severe, ongoing battle with endometriosis, I have faced the exact systemic barriers our party works to dismantle. I am not someone who sits back, I am someone who fights for change and uses my voice. I want to bring this firsthand perspective and personal resilience to the committee ahead of the 2027 elections, ensuring our branch relentlessly challenges institutional failures and actively advocates for vulnerable communities.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

As a fourth-year law student, I have channeled my personal hurdles into high impact academic research, authoring independent legal analysis papers that expose the systemic failures surrounding neurodivergence in criminal law and endometriosis in medical law. This work proves I can dissect complex legislation, challenge structural inequality, and build robust policy frameworks. Furthermore, I know how to use the power of my words on a massive scale; I independently built a digital platform of over 9,000 followers dedicated to political literacy. I bring a rare mix of legal training, proven digital reach, and unstoppable grassroots energy. I am passionate about making Scotland a country to be proud of, and allows for fair legislative systems.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

Over the last few years, our branch has really come a long way. I have played a small part in that by maintaining a strong, consistent branch social media presence as a member of the comms group.

I'd love the opportunity to continue contributing to our branch social media in what is looking to be another landmark political opportunity for our party and movement.

I'm happy to either be the Social Media Officer or Ordinary Member.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I maintained much of our branch social media during the 2025 Fountainbridge-Craiglockhart by-election and the recent Scottish Parliament election. I've a strong understanding of Instagram and Bluesky, and remain very excited about the opportunities of TikTok, subject to the capacity of the next comms group.

As a past Scottish Young Greens' International Officer and as someone who often works in and around the third sector, I've build strong political awareness. I was also a member of the 'core group' for the aformentioned by-election and Scottish Parliament election.

I am also a student, so I have the flexibility needed to contribute to the work of the branch and campaign.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'd like to support the branch through the crucial campaign over the coming year and play my part in getting more Green councillors elected, so we can have more clout. We need to develop an offering to the people of Edinburgh that is eye-catching, radical, workable and effective. I'm particularly interested in climate action and equity, diversity and inclusion. I want to see through some projects I've worked on in my role as a co-opted EDI officer this past year, but just as an ordinary member this time. We've achieved success with accessibility of campaign routes, which I've led on, but we need to do a great deal more to capitalise on that, document what's been done and disseminate best practice. I hope others will stand for EDI Officer.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I've been an activist for 30 years, with Stonewall, Amnesty, trade unions & the Scottish Greens these past fourteen years continuously. I've had many roles in Edinburgh Greens. I ran W Edinburgh local team, coordinating volunteers through several election campaigns. I've served on branch committee several times. Many years ago now I worked as a political researcher then as a policy officer in higher education. I enjoy on-the-ground campaigning. I run a voluntary group called Data 4 Climate Action Edinburgh (D4CAE) collaborating with climate action groups. We have a blog, a dashboard and an annual report. I'm a cis lesbian. I'm v active campaigning for LGBTQ+ inclusion, particularly to support our trans siblings in these torrid times.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I was previously co-opted onto the role of ordinary member for sub-branch member support working group. I really enjoyed my role as a volunteer coordinator, seeing so many people putting themselves forward to help make Edinburgh Green, but also facilitate others to their full potential. I want to keep this momentum going, using the existing pool of volunteers, and trying to reduce any barriers to participation. Examples of this are the 2 virtual let's get started sessions for door-knocking I organised, which helped people commit and feel comfortable in going out door-knocking. I want to continue to upskill existing volunteers (if they are willing) and to consider taking on more organisational tasks within the party. Please vote for me!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I come from a background of attempts at activism, from LGBTQ+ inclusive education to trade union duties at my workplace. These experiences, alongside my training as a pharmacist have helped me navigate service development, creating good rapport and managing a high workload. Working in a high pressure environment such as a surgical ward in the NHS has also provided me with a pragmatic view and use of resources, diverting when required and focusing on the priorities at hand. I am also the recipient of the Equality Award from the Scottish Trade Union Congress and I hope that will be apparent in the work I do.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I am a seasoned campaigner, having coordinated the local Divest Lothian campaign over a number of years. Through this campaign, we successfully secured support from the City of Edinburgh Council for the divestment of the Lothian Pension Fund from fossil fuels.

In my day job, I am the CEO of a small charity which empowers and supports young people to engage with and campaign on marine policy issues. As part of this, I deliver campaign workshops and mentorship programmes, giving me strong experience in campaign strategy, political engagement and volunteer support.

I care deeply about building campaigns that are strategic, inclusive and rooted in our local communities.

I've held roles on branch committee for the last 4 years - I was Branch Co-Convenor for 2 years and have also been Access/Inclusion Officer. I spent the last year as one of our Campaigns Officers - it was quite the year. I really enjoy working with the committee and like mixing up the roles I do to keep my contribution fresh as well as learning new skills and building my party experience.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'm standing for Welfare & Conduct Officer this year as I think the branch has really missed having this support when our experienced WCO had to step down. I've led multiple teams - some of them global - in my working life which means I'm used to working with discretion, tact and diplomacy with lots of different people - all important skills for this role. I'm a good listener and always keen to find constructive solutions for problems. I think this approach, alongside my committee experience, will help me to be successful in the role.

I started volunteering for the branch in March 2026 in the run-up to the Holyrood election as a Volunteer Co-ordinator. This role involved helping to manage the Volunteers inbox, recording and responding to new volunteer requests, and signposting volunteers or members in the right direction to facilitate participation and encourage involvement.

I really enjoyed being involved with the branch and getting to know fellow members and volunteers, and so I would love to continue supporting the workings of the branch through election to one of these roles. I am definitely a people person so anything that involves working with and encouraging others suits me well!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

My professional background is in administration and fundraising in the charity and heritage sectors, so I'm most comfortable with administrative, data, and communications-based tasks. I can confidently create comms or training materials, and I'm a fast learner and will happily pick up whatever task is most useful.

I am also a friendly and approachable person which lends itself well to both working with these groups and to welcoming new members/volunteers. As someone that became involved with the branch fairly recently, I have a good understanding of what it's like to be a new member and what I found useful and encouraging when I first started, which I feel is a useful perspective for these roles.

I would like to be elected to the role(s) I am standing for as since joining the party and helping during the election, I want to do more! I have a desire to become part of Scotland's future, and push to make Edinburgh a Greener city! Having been part of the Edinburgh South Branch, I have had such a fun time, met some amazing folks, and would love to continue doing more and become part of a committee (I love a committee).

I would love to become a member of the committee and I will bring enthusiasm and passion to everything I do. The green wave, and seeing the first-hand power of community organising is incredible, I have time, energy and a desire to help continue this upwards trajectory into the council elections of 2027.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I believe I would be a great addition to the committee due to my background working on committees (UoE prideSoc president 2025/2026), organising large-scale events - such as a Gaylidlh, creating social media content, sending emails, and working with other folks.

My skills and experience set me up to work with others! I would love to be part of the communications team. I have so many fabulous and fun ideas to bring to our socials channel, ideas for promoting new memberships, and access to premium Adobe studio! I also love to organise events, create schedules and send emails. I also bring a little dyslexic flair!

The Scottish Green Party is in the ascendancy and we have an opportunity over the next few years to cement our position as a major party in Scotland, and to win on issues in line with our values.

This will only happen if we run effective campaigns, which means increasing our membership engagement and strengthening our sub-branches. The Holyrood campaign was effective but there remains room for growth with a large proportion of our members still not engaging with our campaigns.

It's this work that I wish to contribute to.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

- I have been a full time trade union organiser since 2017 running campaigns and winning industrial action ballots, saving jobs and improving terms and conditions in the university sector.

- My entire career has been as part of membership-based organisations and developing effective campaigning and democratic structures.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

Last week, I read Audre Lorde's book The Cancer Journals (1980) and found myself enraged at the simply woeful and damning reminder of how so many aspects of life - be it related to ableism, women, people of colour, or the LBGTQIA+ community - have barely changed at all in FORTY SIX YEARS.

And it feels like it's getting worse. As a person of relative privilege, what can I do to help? I am keenly aware that those with lived experience of exclusion are the voices that are needed. But at a time when those who shout the loudest are erasing people who don't look or think like them, I feel it is crucial that I do all I can to combat that right here at a level where I can truly make a difference.

I am also looking forward to making new Green friends!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

With a varied background, I've myriad skills that don't fit into neat little boxes. I have a creative (neurodivergent) mind and often hear 'I'd not thought of that before!'. I've worked in citizen participation and it was this and the EU Referendum that ignited my political fire.

I'm very into community engagement and have been involved in lots of local activities over the last year. I recently trained as a facilitator through Palliative Care Scotland and began holding events around demystifying death. I'm also a new Trustee of Leith Community Centre.

I am a Mental Health First Aider, EU Brain Ambassador and have lived experience of chronic illness. So I feel I could bring a lot to the role, be it coordinating, campaigning or just being kind.

I am standing as a candidate for Equity, diversity and Inclusion officer. As someone who is not from Scotland originally, I understand it can be daunting to approach a new party unit to get involved. As well as being an ex-pat in a new system I'm also a transracial adoptee who is a queer woman of color I have consistently known how it feels to have spaces not accept me. However, in my professional work, I've always been someone who works to make sure spaces are open for all identities and abilities. I am standing for this committee because I want the greens to continue to be the home of tolerance and acceptance and I want to ensure that we aren't just tending to our active base, but finding those who are intimidated to be involved to join!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Before coming here I worked at the MN State Legislature and on Campaigns for the Minnesota DFL (Our state's version of the democratic party). We passed progressive legislation, but the institution is still overwhelmingly white, male, and straight. As leadership staff in the legislature and campaign manager on campaigns queer candidates and candidates of color felt comfortable with me to share struggles, and to workshop ideas. I have run campaigns from a grassroots level, but I've also run campaigns that have gotten people who don't even vote to volunteer and take part. I believe with my skillset and passion for inclusion that I can not only do this role successfully, but grow our active membership within communities who are left behind.

As a proud working-class Scottish-Asian with a long-term chronic health condition I'd be honoured to be selected as Ordinary Member for the Elections & Campaigns Working Group.

Having been politically invested but apathetic in the last few years due to a feeling of powerlessness, I have been inspired by the Scottish Greens' brilliant result in the elections.

I can bring my skills and experience of working with various groups, (from the young or old, from refugees to folk feeling left behind by the system), to help the party reach those who need us more than ever.

Having always supported those underserved and underrepresented, I truly believe that the likes of Reform and the far right should not be seen as the domain of the working class.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

The skills and experience I can bring include:

- Empowering people in the areas of Muirhouse, Pilton, Granton, Drylaw and Pennywell in supporting people in tackling social isolation and those in recovery as Community Development Worker
- Leading the transformative Lifting Neighbourhoods Together (LNT) project introducing systemic change and practices in lifting three socially deprived areas in Edinburgh out of poverty
- Co-Founder of the Leith-based Sett Studios, an inclusive and safe art space for those from low socio-economic backgrounds & supporting community groups including those identifying as LGBTQIA+ and BIPOC

People like Zohran Mamdani and Zack Polanski have inspired me to get more involved at a grassroots level, showing that politics built around genuine fairness, equality and community can actually win. The values the Scottish Green Party stands for resonate with me and motivate me to act. At the same time, it's clear the political centre is dying, and divisive, hateful, billionaire-funded parties like Reform are filling that gap faster than progressive movements. This concerns me deeply. I want to help the Greens change this, not just at a national level, but ward by ward, and being part of this committee is the right place to do that.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I have a solid understanding of Scotland's national and local electoral system and past election results, and

I'm focused on what we can build ahead of the council elections. Earlier this year, I door-knocked, delivered leaflets and posters in Edinburgh Central in the run-up to polling day, worked throughout polling day itself, and attended the count the following day to sample. Playing my small part in a historic Green result across Edinburgh and Scotland. I've been a member since the start of the year, and I'm willing to take on more responsibility. I joined the party in 2014, but became heavily involved in the branch and CEG sub-branch after campaigning for Jule Bandel during the 2022 council elections. I have enjoyed being on the committee, first as a Communications Ordinary Member for 2 years, and over the past year as Sub-branch and Member Support Officer.

As SBMS Officer, Core-Campaigns Team member, and door-knocker it has been an honour to help the branch and sub-branches achieve our best ever election result. I would love to continue that work into next year's council elections.

Were I to continue in the SBMS role I would continue to support West Lothian in becoming an operational Sub-branch. I would work on facilitating collaboration and skill-sharing between sub-branches.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Over 3 years of branch committee I believe I have made valuable contributions to discussions and direction. I have demonstrated that I can organise and put in the work. For instance I have:

- coordinated most seasons of Green News in Edinburgh over the past three years, even after leaving the Comms Working Group
- helped West Lothian in becoming operational over the past year, including organising canvassing sessions in Linlithgow and Livingston
- helped establish the Central Scotland Campaign Board for the last election
- have supported or arranged support for teams that have needed some help

I have 29 years of experience in the software industry, including running a successful agency for 10 years and 6 years organising an international conference.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

Ahead of the 2027 local elections, when the Greens could decisively shape Edinburgh Council's policies, getting the manifesto right matters enormously. I want to help convene a process that connects the party's national policy vision to what Edinburgh Council can actually deliver: on housing, transport, climate resilience, and democratic renewal. Having read in detail both the SGP Policy Reference Document and the 2022 Edinburgh manifesto in depth, I have a number of ideas on where local policy can be strengthened and where council powers have been underused. I am eager to bring rigour to that process while ensuring diverse voices across the branch genuinely shape the final document.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

As a political scientist with expertise in democratic theory, social policy, and migration, I bring both analytical rigour and a working familiarity with the SGP's Policy Reference Document and Edinburgh's council responsibilities. In local elections policy must be primarily local in its scope and delivery and that realisation is critical for a credible, deliverable manifesto. As an academic I have previously facilitated workshops, managed research projects, and distilled complex policy into accessible language. My contributions to the branch's collective work ahead of 2027 are based on these experiences and directly relevant to convening a manifesto working group, supporting editorial oversight, and briefing members on conference motions.

Having been a member of the party and the Edinburgh branch for almost 5 years, I am keen to get involved in supporting the branch heading into the 2027 Edinburgh council elections. Leafletting, canvassing and attending the count for the 2022 Edinburgh council elections was how I first got involved in the party and I know from seeing the party's success in the recent Holyrood election we have a real shot at really turning Edinburgh green next year so I would love a chance to join the committee as an ordinary member for one of the working groups to play a part in (hopefully!) getting a record number of Edinburgh councillors elected!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I have held many roles across multiple levels of the party. Currently, I'm the Membership Officer for the Young Greens, however I've previously been on the Comms and Policy & Campaigns working group, as well as Clerk for the Central Edinburgh Greens and Co-Convener of the Lothian Young Greens (which I'm working on reviving with the new regional boundaries!). These roles have given me wide knowledge of the party that I hope will enable me to contribute to the branch. Outside of the party, I am currently the trade union rep for my workplace in the culture sector and I'm in my 3rd year studying Social Sciences. This has furthered my political knowledge which I hope to use as part of the Campaigns group. Thank you for your consideration!

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'm seeking your support to be re-elected to the Elections and Campaigns Group.

Building on our record result in the Holyrood election, we have a fantastic opportunity to elect a record number of Green councillors. I'm keen to use the experience and skills from having help organise the last two local elections, both at branch and sub-branch level, to help us do that! If elected, I'd like to:

- Help organise a campaign that elects a record number of councillors in Edinburgh and West Lothian
- Support sub-branches to build door-knocking, material delivery, and campaigning experience

- Be an effective team member as part of the Elections and Campaigns Group

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I have extensive election campaign organising experience, and have played a key role in organising campaigns locally and nationally in every election since I joined the party in 2014. I've been Co-Convenor of the national Elections and Campaigns Committee, and served as branch Co-Convenor between 2021 and 2023. I've previously been on the Elections and Campaigns Group for the past two years.

In my day job I'm a Policy and Public Affairs Manager for a national charity, and live in Gorgie.

It would be an honour to return to the Elections and Campaigns Group, to help deliver our most successful local election campaign!

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

The state of the world, in particular hurtling into a climate crisis, feels suffocating. Politics seems to me to be one of the strongest ways to make meaningful change and the Scottish Greens is the only party showing real commitment to tackling issues.

Witnessing and being part of the branch committee, a group of hard working and motivated people, has been really fulfilling. I'd like to continue to contribute to the smooth running of the branch by standing for a committee position.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

As current Edinburgh Branch Clerk, I manage email accounts, take minutes at branch and committee meetings, and support the branch co-conveners. This practical experience means I will be able to jump straight back into the role.

Further experience on university committees such as Dirty Weekenders (conservation volunteering society), Permaculture Gardening Society, and Slurp (student action on homelessness society) support me with knowledge of how to work as a team and inner workings of committees.

I am organised and have a keen attention to detail, key attributes for this role.

I'm comfortably retired, so I am privileged to have time that I can put towards what I believe in. I'm reasonably fit and currently healthy, so I can often find energy to do things I care about. I'm quite old, so the roles that I consider most suitable for me are to be supportive of those who will be carrying on long into your planetary future. Being an Ordinary Member of the working group supporting sub-branches and members is, in my opinion, a very good fit.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I am excited by the challenges and opportunities that are before us in the SGP. I have been political involved for many decades; I'm happy to still be learning about building the progressive movement. While in the Edinburgh Branch, I've had the privilege to be involved at levels of a local team, a sub-branch, working groups, the branch committee, the National Council and the Standing Orders Committee. Despite this or because of this, I relish sharing my energy and your energies in making real, positive change.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I am a lifelong politics nerd with a passion for campaigning for human rights and climate issues. Having recently finished a master's in political communication and public affairs, I would like to put the skills and knowledge I gained to good use. With a strong social media and communications campaign, we have the opportunity to spread awareness of the importance of local elections, whilst also making Edinburgh Green! On top of this, I want to show how fun it is to participate in local politics and help build a strong team of volunteers and supporters to increase support for the Scottish Greens in Edinburgh and across the country.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Through my studies, I have gained a bachelor's degree in journalism and a master's in political communication. I have built strong skills in writing, content creation, and digital engagement. Additionally, I am currently a digital communications volunteer with the climate activism group Edinburgh Climate Coalition (ECC). My work included multiple pieces of social media content, including informational carousel, memes, and videos. I was also tasked with creating a leaflet to be handed out at street stalls, protests, and events. Using Canva and social media management tool Buffer, this content was posted on Instagram, Facebook, X, and LinkedIn, and accumulated over 2k impressions within 24 hours and a 121% increase in Instagram followers.

I would like to be elected to the role of Clerk to perform the duty of producing Minutes – by recording the official proceedings at Committee meetings, Branch meetings, Annual general meeting and Extra-ordinary general meeting. I would ensure that the Minutes / documents are stored and shared with co-convenors, members and the national party.

Working with and supporting colleague Clerk and co-convenors, I will ensure that the administrative systems of the branch are running, such as booking meeting venues, updating committee activities tracker, tracking the progress of actions, monitoring branch email inbox, organising important branch documents, etc.

The future is green. Your future is green. Thank you.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I was Club Secretary, member of the Board and signatory to its bank accounts, at Rotary International's Rotary Club of Lagos. At Rotary, I organized weekly club meetings and monthly Board meetings. I provided oversight and managed its administrative architecture to support its various committees, including membership, finance, etc. I wrote, produced minutes of club meetings, Board meetings and AGMs; and circulated to all Board and club members.

I was Livelihoods Advisor (Assistant), at UK Government Department for International Development. At DFID, I provided advisory and administrative support to program managers who implemented the UK Government's programs in agriculture and water sectors.

I am University-educated in the UK and Nigeria.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I care deeply about creating communities where everyone can participate, belong and influence decisions. It isn't just about making sure that spaces are accessible, but also ensuring that spaces, discussions, and outcomes happen in an environment and community that fosters a sense of belonging and autonomy. I would like to use this role to support members across Edinburgh, and anyone who wishes to engage with the Greens work, so they can confidently engage, and see how their lived experience is acknowledged and integrated into the pillars of equality, diversity and inclusion that is central to the culture of the party.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I have previously been described as "a widening participation dream"—a queer, neurodivergent, disabled woman from an impoverished background. In my final year, I revived the disabled students group after over five years of inactivity, securing the institution's first sensory space, sensory hours, accessibility funding, and ambassador training. As Education Officer, representing 19k+ students, I developed inclusive educational practice, guidance for trans students, and accessibility resources. Across student representation, disability advocacy, and community work, I have helped people engage with decision-making in ways that are anti-racist, intersectional, trans-inclusive, and empowering, ensuring diverse voices are heard and acted upon.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

It is an exciting time to be involved in the Edinburgh Greens and I would like to play my part in helping to take us to the next level of electoral success. After a record number of Green votes this year, the 2027 elections provide an opportunity for the party to be ambitious about what can be achieved. With an excellent campaign that builds on the Holyrood campaign and one that learns the lessons from the 2022 election we should be aiming to be the biggest party in the council.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I have been involved in helping to organise election campaigns in Edinburgh since the 2019 Westminster general election and feel I have experience I can offer to make the 2027 campaign the best it can be.

I work as a civil engineer which involves planning and organising large projects and programmes of work - which brings a lot of transferrable skills for an election campaign.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I started volunteering with the Edinburgh Greens because I wanted to put my time and efforts into causes I believe in (environmental & social justice) instead of just reading the news and feeling despondent. I have found the group to be very welcoming and helpful, and enjoyed going to the meetings, canvassing and performing music for the Leith walk stall with Q and Kate. This has inspired me to get even more involved! I am very interested in policy writing and would love to get hands on experience in how policies and manifestos are written. I also have a lot of ideas for events that I could help organise.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I am doing a part time PhD in textiles engineering, researching how Scottish farmers could grow fibre flax and manufacture sustainable linen NHS scrubs (and eventually replace all petrochemical fast fashion!). I currently collaborate with the Soil Association, Landworkers Alliance, V&A Dundee, NHS Scotland and 5 Scottish unis on this project. I think the research and relationships I have developed through this work could help in writing policies on agriculture, textiles manufacturing and procurement. I also have experience in organising and hosting events, such as seminars and demos about sustainable textiles. I perform accordion with the Barrow Band, teach textiles repairs at a repair cafe, and have run banner making workshops for parades.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

Being involved in the Greens recent Scottish Parliament elections campaign was one of the most exciting and positive experiences with politics I have ever had. I volunteered to support Kate Nevens (MSP!) emails and I helped to upskill the volunteers for the other candidates emails. The council wins by our sister party in England should show us that there is absolutely no reason why we can't replicate that success in Edinburgh in 2027. I would love the opportunity to stand as a Policy Officer and as an ordinary member for the Election & Campaigns or the EDI Working Group. Every year Edinburgh gets more diverse and I want to help encourage everyone to feel represented in the Party.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

When managing Kate Nevens mailbox during the recent election, I was able to email over 1500 people from across Edinburgh and Lothians. This helped me gain a unique perspective on which aspects of the Scottish Greens manifesto was resonating most with constituents. Since first attending Heriot-Watt 11 years ago I have lived across Edinburgh, I am a young member and I am married in a mixed-race relationship. As a result of all of this I have a good perspective on the issues that matter most to people across the city in the next council elections. I have a Masters degree in International Relations and an area of interest of mine is identifying policy ideas that have worked across the world that we could use to benefit Edinburgh.

I am putting myself forward as Treasurer for one more year in the spirit of deepening the organisational memory of the branch by building on my experience as Treasurer in the 2022 Local Government election.

If elected, I will work closely with the campaigns team for the 2027 election. I will also aim to further develop the work on subbranch budgeting and forecasting, and continue strengthening the financial sustainability of the Edinburgh branch.

I have also put myself forward for Policy Officer, in which I would use my previous committee (and wider party) experience to facilitate a collaborative election manifesto process.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

My work in Production Accounting means I am very familiar with managing budgets and accounts processing. I was also a member of the Scottish Green Party Finance and Fundraising Committee in 2024/25.

I was involved as Treasurer in the campaigns teams of the 2019 Westminster, 2021, 2026 Holyrood, and 2022 Local Council elections. I also have experience in political organising, events production and facilitation from referendum campaigns and other social justice work, as well as providing people-grounded HR support as a charity trustee.

I would look to bring this experience to all of the roles I have given as preferences, with the aim of contributing to an inclusive and supportive branch committee.

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

Having been Comms Officer for several years, I'd like to take on the more specialised role of Internal Comms Officer to focus on improving comms systems and procedures. I'm also keen to improve member engagement through making better use of the comms channels we have and researching alternatives.

If elected as an Internal Comms Ordinary Member, I feel well-placed to support systems and procedures development as well as taking on tasks to free up the Internal Comms Officer to work on development projects.

I'd also like the role of Sub-branch and Member Support Ordinary Member. I think that having been active in my sub-branch for many years and having a comms background, makes me well-placed to help develop resources for sub-branches.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I have over 30 years working in comms as a graphic and web information designer, project manager and web-content developer. ## Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'm standing to be the External Communications Officer. Having played a part at both Branch and Sub-branch levels in the last few Holyrood and Council elections, I'm keen to help us keep up the momentum and replicate our 2026 success. We have a fantastic and growing campaign team – I'm very excited at our prospects for 2027 Council election and can't wait to get cracking.

My other choices for a Committee role are: Ordinary Member for either External Comms, Sub-branches & Member Support, or Elections & Campaigns.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'm one of the team of comms volunteers running our Edinburgh Greens website and calendar. I've written and designed numerous leaflets for the Branch and for our election campaigns over the years, and handled the printing.

I've been Membership Secretary and a campaign organiser of my Sub-branch (SEEG) for years, so I'm familiar with our Forest membership/email system, our canvassing systems, and organising leaflet delivery runs.

My day job is at a workers co-operative in the design and print industry, and I've previously worked in website design and development. I have a good understanding of accessible design, and I can write press releases. As I work part-time, I have plenty of free time to for a Committee role and Green volunteering.

I want to bring service to the Edinburgh branch in a time of rapid growth. The branch team has done such an amazing job for the Holyrood elections, and the committee need to support the campaign team to do a similarly amazing job to with the local elections. This involves supporting sustainably what is going well and helping to improve on the areas where we need it. I hope that you will vote for me!

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I also worked on the democratic process to bring the Holyrood Manifesto. I have been a member of the Womens Network Committee for the last four years. I was a candidate for the Holyrood election just passed. I have been on my local Community Council for five years, the latter as Chair. ## Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I'm re-standing for the position in the events team as it's responsible for, what I think are, the two most important goals of the party – community building and political education.

I believe we should community build within our own party as well as local areas in our city, through events, meetings and lectures.

I also think the party needs to focus on showing our members and the wider public that there are different ways of running our society then just trying the same neo-liberal status quo. I'd like to continue our series of Green Talks which already introduced many people to new ideas.

While I wasn't successful I'd also like to continue to try to get my heroes Greta Thunberg or Naomi Klein to speak at one of our events.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

Why would you like to be elected to the role(s) you are standing for?

I am standing as Equality, Diversity & Inclusion Working Group Officer to continue contributing to the important work of the working group. As an ordinary member in the last year, I represented the working group in the Holyrood campaign team, focusing on engagement with marginalised voter communities. Having learned a lot from this, I would like to build on the experience and the Councillor's group work on candidate development to help us run a more inclusive 2027 campaign, winning the votes and trust of voters that we haven't always spoken to. While the committee's focus on an election year is rightly focused on campaigning, I would also like us to continue previous years' work in reviewing the branch's internal practices.

What skills, knowledge and life experience would you bring to the role(s) you are standing for?

I see the remit of the working group as intersectional, and as part of this role I would like to work with committee on how branch engages with volunteers experiencing marginalisation, in particular around class and wealth. In the last year, a significant challenge has been the lack of internal demographics data and feedback mechanisms - I would like to continue our ongoing work on establishing these.

While I think I could positively contribute to this role, if a sufficient number of women or candidates that experience multiple marginalisation have put themselves forward, I would encourage members to rank me below them.
